

Chance to Balance Budget

Snyder Sees It And Thinks Ten Billion Tax Hike Sufficient at Present

WASHINGTON, April 3—(AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Snyder said today that if Congress votes a $10,000,000,000 tax increase now, it may not be necessary to ask for any more next year.

He had previously said the $10,000,000,000 would suffice at least until January.

Snyder told a news conference today the budget for fiscal 1952, beginning next July 1, has a good chance of being balanced. He said he would ask Congress for further tax hikes next January only if the budget picture changes so much that it looks then as though higher revenues will be required to keep the government out of the red.

These comments appear to be even more optimistic and to go somewhat farther, than the treasury chief's testimony yesterday before the House ways and means committee.

In that testimony, he urged quick passage of the pending proposal but abandoned the administration's earlier recommendation for a "second round" tax increase of $6,500,000,000 in 1951. The "second round" proposal had been tied to the January forecast of a $16,500,000,000 deficit next fiscal year.

Republicans are calling for a further cut in the tax increase program.

Point to Balance
Snyder said today the trends which have changed the outlook for this fiscal year to a $3,000,000,000 deficit surplus in place of the $2,700,000,000 deficit forecast in January now point to a balanced budget next year — if they continue.

These trends have run to greater than anticipated tax collections and smaller than anticipated expenditures, chiefly because military outlays have been kept down by unexpectedly slow deliveries on orders.

Snyder stressed that there are several "ifs" in the situation. He said he would go back to Congress early next year for more tax increases "if the defense program's complexion is changed."

Snyder recalled a "military axiom" from his days as field artillery officer in World War I: "A war movement, tactical situation changes hourly." He said that an unspecified part of the prospective $3,000,000,000 surplus in this fiscal year, ending next June 30, can be applied to debt reduction, but a large part will have to be kept in the treasury.

Expect Profit in Losing of New Half Dollars

NEW YORK, April 3—(AP)—On the theory that people are honest, a Negro educational organization today started losing new half dollars.

It expects eventually to lose up to a possible 5,000,000 of the shiny 50-cent pieces. And, depending on the honesty of the finders, it hopes to get its investment back, plus some.

"We have faith that the average person is honest," said a spokesman for the Booker T. Washington birthplace memorial. "We expect to prove it to the cynics."

Launching the project, a volunteer corps of 15 college girls today fanned out over New York City, deliberately and with abandon losing half dollars in bus terminals, hotel lobbies, phone booths, subways, and railroad stations.

Each half dollar, a coin specially minted with congressional authorization, is in an envelope with a letter addressed "to an honest person."

"I ask that the finder send $1, or return the coin, to the memorial, which is devoted to industrial schools and better education facilities for Negroes. If $1 is sent, half goes to the government, which okayed the selling of the coins at a premium."

The coins, turned out at the government mint at Philadelphia, are embossed with the head of Booker T. Washington, the famed 19th Century Negro leader and educator, and an inscription, "From Slave Cabin to Hall of Fame."

After New York, the memorial plans to carry its money-losing project to other cities across the country.

"The idea typifies the faith that Booker T. Washington had in people," a spokesman said. "We think it will work and most psychologists agree with us. Prominent educators are watching the results with interest."

He said persons who want one of the special coins, and who don't find one, may obtain them by sending $1 to the memorial, near Roanoke, Va.

Dewey Orders A Crime Probe

ALBANY, N. Y., April 3—(AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey today ordered a special grand jury to convene April 30 to investigate any connections between gamblers, racketeers and public officials in Saratoga county.

The investigation, announced by Dewey last week, stemmed from sensational testimony given by high state police officials to the U. S. Senate's Kefauver crime committee in New York City.

Police officials said they knew illegal gambling had been wide open at Saratoga Springs, historic upstate racing and resort center. But, they said, it was long-standing state police policy not to move into a locality that had its own uniformed police, unless invited.

Car Overturns Killing Owen James Eding

Fatal Accident Late Monday At Cole Camp

Owen James Eding, 20, was instantly killed and Rufus Lutjen, 23, was injured, when the 1938 Ford coach of Lutjen overturned twice on Benton county highway F, beside the City Park in Cole Camp about 5:50 o'clock Monday afternoon.

State Trooper Glenn Means of the state highway patrol, reported the two young men had been driving about the town for several minutes prior to the accident.

Eding Was At Wheel
According to the report the car was driven by Eding and was headed west on the county highway. The car passed a car driven by Mrs. Lorene Donnell of Cole Camp, and as it went around, it appeared as if the driver lost control of the machine. It rolled over twice throwing both young men from it.

When persons reached Eding he was dead. Dr. A. W. Moreland, coroner, said he believed death was caused from a broken neck. Dr. Moreland said an inquest was not necessary.

Lutjen received a laceration on the top of his head, bruises on his hands, knees and body. He was treated at the office of Dr. Moreland.

Trooper Means quoted Lutjen as saying the two had been in Sedalia during the afternoon and returned to Cole Camp about a half an hour before the fatal accident. Lutjen, according to Trooper Means, said he had been driving the car and Eding took the wheel of the vehicle a few minutes before the accident.

The automobile was practically demolished.

Eding was born September 1, 1930 in Cole Camp, the son of Louis and Hettie Eding. He was reared and educated in the schools there.

He was married to Miss Ruby Mae Haase in May, 1950.

Surviving are his widow, his parents, and one sister Mrs. Herman Gardner of Kansas City.

He had assisted his father in the painting business for several years but of recent months had been in the general trucking business.

The body was taken to the Elkhoff funeral home in Cole Camp.

Lower Quality Of 'Auto' Gasoline

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, April 3—(AP)—An official of the Petroleum Administration for Defense (PAD) said today a reduction in the quality of automobile gasoline is unavoidable.

Reid Brazell, director of PAD's refining division, said gasoline octane ratings must be reduced because of developing shortages of tetraethyl lead, an anti-knock ingredient. Tetraethyl lead is increasingly in demand for military fuels.

In an address prepared for delivery before the Western Petroleum Refiners' association Brazell said military requirements for gasoline will increase during the last six months of 1951, over the first half of the year. He said it "all adds up to one sure thing: The octane number of automotive gasoline will have to be reduced in future months."

Killed in Fall Off Wagon

POPULAR BLUFF, Mo., April 3—(AP)—Two-year-old Arthur Duane Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Stewart, farmers, fell from a wagon being pulled by a tractor yesterday afternoon and was killed instantly. The accident occurred when Stewart, driving the tractor, changed gears to go up an incline.

Each half dollar, a coin specially minted with congressional authorization, is in an envelope with a letter addressed "to an honest person."

"I ask that the finder send $1, or return the coin, to the memorial, which is devoted to industrial schools and better education facilities for Negroes. If $1 is sent, half goes to the government, which okayed the selling of the coins at a premium."

Voting in the City Election Been Brisk

Trek to the Polls Started Early and Is Continuing

Voters in Sedalia have been turning out to the polls early today to cast their vote for one member of the Council from their respective ward and to vote for two members of the Sedalia Public School board. The vote at the noon hour indicated somewhat of a trend to more people voting than in previous off-year elections such as is being held today.

Judges of election who have been working in the polls for several years have all indicated their voting places have experienced more off-election voters up to the noon hours than have gone to the polls in similar elections. They have indicated if the trend continues through the beautiful sunshine day, a vote record might be broken.

Candidates have been knocking doors since early morning encouraging the voters to get out and cast his or her vote.

Interest in School Board
The race for the two places on the school board has become an incentive for many to rush to the polls. Three candidates, Dr. G. H. Abney, Republican; Dr. Floyd L. Lively, Democrat; E. R. Moberg, Independent, are seeking the two places.

The heated campaign between the two political parties for the four councilmen seats also have created an interest in the voting. Party workers began as soon as the polls opened endeavoring to get their party members out to vote.

The polls will close at 7:00 o'clock.

Regrets Remain After Near Riot

ALLERTON, Iowa, April 3—(AP)—The Christian church of Allerton was without a pastor today but all visible evidence of last Sunday's near riot in the church was erased.

Nine persons were injured in the melee but only a few cuts, bruises, sprains — and a large number of regrets — still remain.

The central figure in the row was the Rev. Syd G. Austin, 49, who was ousted as pastor. He and his family are preparing to leave the parsonage after being here 11 months.

At least two varying versions of what occurred are current.

Mr. Austin, who suffered a severely sprained knee, said the fracas left the church a "shambles" although others called his description a "very exaggerated story."

Both sides agree that a vote of the 70 to 85 members was taken on questions leading to Mr. Austin's ouster.

The opposition designated two sergeants-at-arms to escort Mr. Austin from the pulpit but as they did so friends of the pastor rushed to the platform. A brief scuffle followed. The dispute arose over the affiliation of the church.

Mr. Austin and Leo Ferrell, chairman of the church board, who suffered a heart attack during the fighting, insisted the church is a "free, independent Church of Christ" and that it never has been affiliated with the Iowa Christian missionary society.

Lodge Withdraws Move to Reverse Vote on Troops

WASHINGTON, April 3—(AP)—The Senate refused today to declare itself against sending ground troops to Europe until the western allies are assured of control of the air there.

By Jack Bell
WASHINGTON, April 3—(AP)—Senator Lodge (R-Mass.) today led and then abandoned a move to reverse a Senate vote calling for congressional action following assignment of troops to Europe.

Lodge first moved to strike out of a pending resolution a section amended by Senator McClellan (D-Ark.) yesterday to say that no more than four American divisions should be dispatched to Europe "without further congressional approval."

Then, after debate had gone on for nearly an hour, Lodge told the Senate he is a realist and realized from the outset his proposal had no chance of approval.

He said he merely had offered his amendment to draw the issue sharply and that since the debate had made it clear, he was withdrawing the amendment.

He had stressed that the Senate ought to back down on its stand that Congress should pass on every deployment of troops to Europe.

He argued that would mean Congress would have to take a vote if it was proposed to send supporting artillery and engineers to join the six divisions the administration intends to assign to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's North Atlantic defense force.

"You are going to deprive the American soldier of his Sunday punch," Lodge declared.

Resolution Before Senate
Before the Senate is a resolution which would endorse the administration's plan to send four army divisions — about 100,000 men — to serve with the two already in Europe.

By a 49 to 43 vote, the Senate put into the resolution yesterday language proposed by Senator McClellan (D-Ark.) to the effect that President Truman should not send any additional troops "without further congressional approval."

MacArthur Jeeps Near to Red Main Line

TOKYO, April 3—(AP)—General MacArthur jeeps today 500 yards of the main Communist line in Red Korea today. His trip on the east coast carried him at least 13 road miles inside the Communist northland.

A member of his party said MacArthur went five or six miles north of Yangyang. The town is five air or seven road miles north of the border on the east coast.

MacArthur visited South Korean (ROK) troops at Yangyang. He said on his return to Tokyo:

"Tactical conditions along the entire Korean front remain favorable."

MacArthur landed in his constellations at Kangnung airfield, 15 miles south of parallel 38. There he met the Eighth Army commander, Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, and headed north.

At Yangyang, MacArthur visited the ROK capital division—the first allied troops to cross 38 in the current allied offensive. MacArthur said he found them "ready and fit."

"Our strategy remains unchanged in Korea," he said. "It is based on maneuver and not positional warfare."

"The enemy's weakness in the air and on the sea and his lack of artillery and heavy ground weapons is being beautifully exploited by our field commander."

Editor with General
Paul Smith, editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, accompanied the general.

"As an ex-marine, I know I kept my eye open for snipers," Smith said. He added:

"All the talk I heard about was attack."

The San Francisco editor said, "I don't know how far above the parallel we went but it was five or six miles above Yangyang."

"We crossed a river up there and drove over a plateau that was captured from the enemy just yesterday or the day before. Both going up and coming back a jeep got stuck."

"The general's jeep had to be lifted out of one place."

"We saw troops digging in for the night at the most forward point we went."

Others on the battlefield tour included Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer, far East Air Force chief; Vice Adm. G. Turner Joy, war East fleet commander; Maj. Gen. Courtney B. Whitney and Maj. Gen. Doyle O. Hickey of MacArthur's Tokyo staff.

MacArthur said Americans can follow their religious faiths "with the same devotion and determination the Communists give to their godless creed."

He said, "I must live in American hearts 'as a burning faith.'"

America, he said, is intended to cooperate with other nations "to help create peace and preserve peace in the world."

Mr. Truman continued: "It is given to us to defend the spiritual values—the moral code—against the vast forces of evil that seek to destroy them."

"This is a hard task. It is not one that we ask for. At times, we would like to lay it down and, as we go on with it we see that it is full of uncertainties and sacrifices."

"But we need not be afraid, if we have the faith."

"Our young are offering their lives for us in the hills of Korea—and yet too many of us are chiefly concerned over whether or not we can buy a television set next week, or make the profit we expect to make next year, or how we can turn the situation to our own advantage."

The church where Mr. Truman spoke is one of the most famous in America. Besides Lincoln, seven other presidents worshipped there.

Election Returns To be Posted

The Sedalia City Council met in regular session, Monday night, and recessed until Monday night, April 9, following the reading of the minutes of the Council proceedings of March 19.

Councilman Elmer Summers, second ward, as soon as the minutes were read took the floor as President pro tem, and stated that for many years it had been customary for the council to recess whenever the council met the night before a city election and made a motion to recess until next week.

The mayor and councilmen then departed the City Hall to attend their respective party political meetings. Mayor Studer the Republican's at the court house and the Councilmen, the Democrats at 210 West Main street.

Defendant in Case Is Joseph Lionel Bohon
The name John L. Bohon, was mentioned in the docket of the criminal division of the Pettis County Circuit court, Monday evening, when it should have read Joseph Lionel Bohon, who is charged with forgery.

Bohon took a change of venue in the case and it was sent to Morgan county. He was released on a $2,000 bond.

Make Crossing of 38th Parallel In Force By An American Division

Vishinsky Is Recovering
MOSCOW, April 3—(AP)—Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet minister of foreign affairs, is recovering from an illness, the foreign affairs ministry announced today.

With the seventh infantry division in Korea—Pvt. John Bloess, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bloess, 1409 West Broadway, Sedalia, recently completed a five day combat training period after joining the 17th Infantry regiment (The Buffaloes). This training was designated to familiarize Bloess with the latest tactics.

Bloess' unit spearheaded the United Nations advance to the Manchurian border. Later, it participated in the evacuation at the Hungnam beachhead — the largest water evacuation in American military history. His regiment recently took part in "Operation Killer" and was credited with inflicting a large number of enemy casualties.

Before entering the military service Private Bloess attended the University of Missouri.

Poetic Drama Theme Of Sorosia Program

Miss Cecile Burton, dean of speech at the Kansas City Junior college, gave an interpretative talk Monday afternoon at Sorosia on "The Art of T. S. Eliott."

Eliott, she said, was born in St. Louis. His grandfather was the founder of the academy which is now the Washington university. The poet lived in the United States until just before World War I, when he went to England and after the war he became an English citizen, the speaker said. In 1930 he began to write poetic drama, she said, and won the Nobel prize for poetry. She went on to explain that his poetic drama, "Murder in Cathedral" was an assignment and he studied for the background which was in the year 1170.

Miss Burton gave a short description of the drama in three acts which was done very successfully by a group of her own students. The first scene was Thomas and the four tempters, the fourth of whom tempted him with martyrdom that his name would live forever; the second scene was of Christmas day in which his sermon was the only thing in the play that was in prose and the third scene, the murder. This poetic drama which had been so favorably received in England and then in New York, was a great undertaking for a group of students and Miss Burton wasn't sure she liked it after she had started her group on it, but the play grew upon them, she said, and left them all inspired.

Not since Shakespeare had poetry been used successfully in drama but now there is another English poet, Christopher Fry, who has also written several poetic dramas Miss Burton said. Both men have very deep religious feeling which they express in their writings.

Miss Burton reviewed in part another poetic drama of T. S. Eliott which dealt with the entangled lives of a group of four people. The drama started with a party which had been planned by a man and his wife who were having domestic trouble. The wife had suddenly decided to leave her husband, contacted all but a few of the guests, whom she could not reach, and called the party off. The first scene opened with the group of guests who had been informed that the party had been called off, and among the guests was one, uninvited, who was a psychiatrist.

Later in the drama Edward, the husband, who wanted his wife back although he did not love her and who found he did not want Cecelia who was in love with him and with whom he had had an affair, sought the services of a psychiatrist. After hearing him talk the psychiatrist told Edward that his own importance was the foremost thing in his mind and that he was not capable of loving his wife or any other woman. "Half of the harm done in the world," he said, "is done by people who like to feel important."

While Edward was still there the psychiatrist admitted another patient, Edward's wife, who did not love Edward but instead loved Peter. But Peter loved Cecelia who loved only Edward. The psychiatrist tried to convince both that they did not need to go to a sanitarium, they needed to realize that he was not capable of loving nor she of being loved and they should try to work out their problems together.

Cecelia, he found, had unconsciously and unintentionally become involved in a love affair she could not understand. She did not think she had sinned but she was groping for a solution to her problem and everybody's problem for none seemed to make sense. But Cecelia did find her mission and though she died for it she found happiness in having realized her purpose in life.

Miss Burton, who was introduced by the Art and Drama chairman Mrs. T. W. Croxton, was an honored guest at the luncheon which preceded the program.

Mrs. C. T. Wright announced that next Monday will be the closing luncheon meeting and will be served promptly at 12:00 o'clock noon. This meeting is a closed meeting with no guests except out-of-town house guests.

Mrs. Dimmitt Hoffman presided over the business meeting.

Hosch-Karl Marriage

Miss Jo Ann Hosch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Hosch, Sr., of Fremont, Neb., became the bride of Harold J. Karl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Karl of Concordia and daughter of Mrs. Lena Keuker of Sweet Springs recently at the St. Paul's Lutheran church in Winslow, Nebr. The Rev. Walter Lange read the double ring ceremony.

Ferns decorated the altar of the church. Earle Pederson accompanied by Florence Panning at the organ sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the Concordia high school and was graduated from watchmaker training at the Midwest college of Horology in Albany, Mo., in 1949. He is the owner of the Hooper Jewelry company. He served 22 months in the army.

Over 250 Girl Scouts Attend Conference

Over 350 Senior Girl Scouts and leaders attended the Senior conference in Jefferson City on March 30, 31 and April 1. Of this group 29 Sedalia girls were delegates.

On Friday evening the Sedalia group were hostesses to an International party at Simeson Junior high school.

Welcome signs in different languages were hung on the walls of the gymnasium. Games planned by the Senior girls and songs led by the Kansas City Senior Scouts provided the evening's entertainment. Refreshments of pop and potato chips were served to the guests.

Saturday's program consisted of huddle groups and talks given by prominent Girl Scout leaders. The following Sedalia Scouts took part in the panel discussion: Bobby Ann Dale, Emily Dick, Alphonsine Miles, Carolyn Houston, Charlotte Ann Salveiter, and Betty Ann Kline.

The business meeting was conducted on Saturday afternoon with a new constitution and by-laws adopted. Independence, Mo., issued an invitation for the 1951 conference. Saturday afternoon the entire group were taken on special tours of the State Capitol and the museum.

Saturday evening the "Hobo Party" was held with all guests arriving in jeans and bobby socks. Refreshments of pop and doughnuts were served at the end of a most enjoyable evening. Sunday morning the girls held "Scout's Own" at 9 o'clock, after which the conference was adjourned.

Dr. Charlotte Wells, of the speech department of Missouri university, Columbia, spoke on "How Do You Do," a talk on charm and Prof. Bowman of Stephens college, talked on "Boy Meets Girl."

The Sedalia group was provided transportation by the Sacred Heart school bus and Roger Fuller drove them to Jefferson City.

TORONTO — (P) — A heavy movement of technical and skilled workers from England to Ontario is under way by sea and air and is expected to be in high gear by mid-April.

Ontario officials dealing with immigration said eight ocean liners have been mustered to bring the immigrants across the Atlantic Ocean in groups of 400 and 500. One United States ship has been diverted to call at Halifax to handle the traffic. Trans-Canada Air Lines is landing about 150 persons a week and has a waiting list of about 1,400.

Germany Reduced Taxes On Higher Brackets

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, April 3—Benjamin B. Bittens, U. S. deputy high commissioner for Germany, had a conversation with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer some time ago which illustrates one of the most important problems the United States faces in Europe. The new German parliament had scaled down taxes on the wealthier taxpayers about a year ago, leaving a proportionately heavy tax burden on labor and white collar workers. The United States, which has the right to intervene in certain affairs of the new German government, objected, and it was following this that deputy commissioner Bittens had his talk with Adenauer.

Showing him the high tax scale prevailing in the U. S., Bittens argued that wealthy Germans also must shoulder their share of the tax burden.

Chancellor Adenauer replied that he just couldn't believe the United States collected such high taxes. If German taxes remained too high, he argued, the German government would not be able to collect them.

"We have a very good tax collector in the United States," Bittens replied, "jail."

"Yes, I know," replied the German chancellor, "but that is just for your gunmen."

"On the contrary," countered the deputy high commissioner, "I can show you a list of quite solid citizens, including doctors and businessmen who went to jail because of tax fraud."

Adenauer, however, remained unconvinced, and U. S. authorities finally permitted the German government to get away with its reduced tax structure even though shot full of legal loopholes where, by high bracket taxpayers can dodge taxes. Result: Germany is now faced with a heavy deficit, is asking for more U. S. aid — which, if given, would have to come out of the pockets of Americans who do pay their taxes.

French Tax Evasion

Real fact is that with the exception of England and the Scandinavian countries, our major European friends are not taxing themselves. Furthermore, if they paid taxes on anywhere near the same scale as the USA and England, they could do two things: 1. Come close to balancing their budgets.

2. Come much closer to wiping out Communism. For when you lighten the tax burden on the poor and shift part of it to the upper brackets, as is now done in the United States and England, then standards of living are raised and one of the most fertile fields for Communism vanishes.

In both France and Italy, in addition to Germany, the working classes pay taxes out of all proportion to the upper brackets.

Actually French income taxes are high, just as high as in the United States. However, evasion among the higher bracket, and middle class taxpayers is notorious. The average French businessman, lawyer farmer or doctor just doesn't dream of revealing his real income. This throws a heavy burden on French labor and white collar workers, because their salaries are a matter of record with the companies for which they work.

This unfair tax distribution plus the high cost of living, is probably the biggest cause of Communism in France.

In most European countries, also, there is a heavy tax burden on the consumer through sales, transfer and various consumer taxes.

Italian Ambassador Objects

Italian ambassador Alberto Tarantini, one of the ablest envoys in Washington, has taken exception to some of my recent reports from Rome in which I criticized money use under Marshall plan. He points out quite correctly that Italian industrial production at the end of 1950 reached an all-time high, being 30 per cent above 1938. (1938 by the way was during the supposedly prosperous days of Mussolini.) He also points out that exports in 1950 rose to an all-time postwar high and that

KILLER'S PACE

BY JULIUS LONG

COPYRIGHT 1951 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Rose Bidault's jury trial, for the murder of Barnett (Barney) Bidault, her 90-year-old husband, is ready to go to the jury, but her attorney Star Williams fails to appear for final arguments. I, Jim Marshall, find him in company with Sonya Saraceni, famous lady mangleman, who displays a small automatic pistol. Just like the one Rose was supposed to have used to kill her husband. Star doesn't seem disturbed when I tell him the judge is ready to give the jury the case without defense argument, and we go tearfully back to the courtroom. I console myself by thinking that even Star's counsel couldn't save Rose from the chair.

AT the sixth floor of the courtroom we found the corridor packed. It seemed that every courtroom hanger-on was present and trying to fight his way into Criminal Court No. 7.

Star Williams accepted the greetings of all with a bland wave. I trotted along ahead of him to the press entrance, much as a football player runs interference for a ball carrier. The difference, I figured, was that Star had no ball to carry.

A camera shutter clicked as I held the door for Star. Nick Ricardo, reporter for one of the papers was on the spot as usual. He was a great one for scoops. Nick Ricardo. He was the only reporter I knew who used the word

"He carried an imported miniature camera enabling him to get fairly good candid shots without a flash."

Newspaper men I ordinarily like. But once in a yellow moon you run across one who has been to too many movies, most of them double features.

"What's the story, Star?" Ricardo demanded.

Star ignored him, but he caught Star's sleeve. I stepped quickly forward and gave Ricardo a shove. Perhaps my zeal was in excess.

Ricardo tell backwards over a chair, almost dropping his $500 camera, as I followed Star into the courtroom.

ROSE BIDAULT, the little brunette on trial for her life, sat rigidly at the defense table, a furious gaze upon Star as he entered. Star crossed to her; I knew he would be giving her a reassuring smile, but the unholy hatred in her eyes deepened.

From the bench Judge Wanamaker glared. He was a lean and hungry-looking judge with a deeply lined face that twitched as if he had ulcers gnawing at his insides. At the prosecution table sat paunchy Andy Tanner and his oath assistant, Joe Worley. Tanner looked elated, and I feared the worst. I looked around to find Kitty Covey. She was talking to another reporter, Max Feldstein, in the press box.

Kitty left the press box and crossed to me as Judge Wanamaker still glowering, said severely:

"I have just been instructing the jury, Mr. Williams, that further argument will be dispensed with. I am not prepared to alter my decision. In denying the prosecution final argument I feel that I am not unduly repudiating your client in depriving her of the benefit of your plea to the jury. Anyway, you've nobody but yourself to blame!"

Star looked shocked, as indeed he must have felt. I noted that the jurors were regarding him as disapprovingly as the judge.

"An. Your Honor, as you say, I have nobody but myself to blame! I cannot deny that I have tardily appeared in your court, that my tardiness is inexcusable. But I can deny Your Honor, that the blame for my misconduct should be visited upon this innocent little child on trial for her life."

"Perhaps the few words that I might say for Rose Bidault would affect the outcome of this trial but slightly. Nevertheless, Rose Bidault, entitled to every right of the accused, should not be denied that right because of the shortcomings of her counsel."

Judge Wanamaker was gripped in the drama of the situation; Star's few words had broken his resolve, vanquished his anger. Abruptly he said:

"Very well. The court will be mercifully generous to the accused. Proceed, Mr. Williams."

The jury had sat owl-eyed. Star Williams bowed to the judge and walked leisurely to the jury box.

"Your Honor," Star said quietly, "Mr. District Attorney and members of the jury, I apologize for the lateness of my arrival. It was unavoidable, but I shall not take up time in defense of myself but in defense of this little girl, brought before this bar for the determination as to whether she will again go forth to see the light of the sun or whether she will be doomed to die in the electric chair."

STAR held out a hand in gesture toward his client, Rose Bidault, who eyed him with a hatred which he blandly ignored.

"The defense of Rose Bidault is a simple one. The district attorney has produced no witness to testify that he saw Rose Bidault kill her husband, the late Barnett Bidault. There is no direct evidence that she did fire the fatal bullet with malice aforethought and intent to kill."

"Oh, yes, there was some other evidence. Expert testimony. Let us not minimize this evidence of the state's highly paid experts. Some six of the highest-priced ballistics experts in the United States said that Barnett Bidault's death could not have been accidental. And I must admit that I, as defense counsel, did not introduce any testimony in rebuttal."

"The evidence is one-sided: Barnett Bidault could not have died by accident because the experts have said so. This particular gun, State's Exhibit No. 1, which fired the fatal bullet is equipped with a safety device making an accidental discharge impossible."

Health Bureau Has Meeting

Sanitation And Family Health Services Topics

A district staff meeting of the Division of Health, held in the district office, Sedalia, on Friday, March 30, was well attended. The president, Mrs. Ida Routh, R. N. Warrensburg, presided.

A total of 27 persons were present, including Mrs. Mary Jenkins, dietitian; Miss Catherine Adams, nutritionist; Miss Mildred McMillan, nursing consultant, maternal and child health services; Ed Simpson, supt. of food handling, all of the state office, Division of Health Jefferson City, and staff members from the health offices of Johnson, Cass, Cole, Cooper, and Boone counties. School nursing services and state crippled children services also were represented.

During the morning program Louis Payton, district engineer discussed "Sanitation in the Civilian Defense Program." Mrs. Frances Hemphill, district nurse explained the problem of "Military and Civilian Nursing Needs."

After a group luncheon the conference divided into two sections; one discussed sanitation and engineering problems during the present crises. The nurses section talked of "Family Health Services in Prenatal Care." Mrs. Jenkins, Mrs. Adams and Miss McMillan were leaders for this group explaining various phases of nutri-

Pictures Shown of Imaginary Trip

The Amigo club met March 22, in the study hall of the Sweet Springs high school. Dr. R. L. Searfoss of Marshall presented a program of color slides. Starting an imaginary trip from Marshall he showed points of interests in the United States discussing each picture as he gave it.

Each member brought a guest. A bulb exchange was held at the close of the meeting. The program next month will be on Modern Household Appliances.

These Folks Once Suffered, Too!

Don Pablo suffered from annoying pains.

Guy H. Housley suffered stomach distress.

Wayne Catrett was run-down, had no appetite.

HADACOL Relieves The Cause Of Stomach Distress, Aches and Pains, Weak, Run-Down Conditions and Nervousness When Due to Deficiencies of Vitamins B<sub>1</sub>, B<sub>2</sub>, Niacin and Iron

Why Settle for Symptomatic Relief When HADACOL Can Help People With Such Deficiencies?

Don Pablo, famous orchestra leader, 15319 Vaughan, Detroit 23, Mich. "Since I broke my wrist I had been suffering with pains, especially when the weather changed, and it seemed that nothing would alleviate it until recently I tried HADACOL, and I was amazed by the results. Now I always keep a bottle to replace the empty. Being a bandleader and pianist where my wrist is essentially used, I am very grateful to HADACOL. Now I can bring to the public the music they enjoy and I enjoy playing it myself."

Guy H. Housley, 641 14th St., San Diego, Calif. "I am 40 years old and have had a nervous stomach condition for quite some time. Couldn't eat hardly anything. Back in my home town, I bought a bottle of HADACOL and before the first bottle was gone, I could tell a difference. Then I came to San Diego and couldn't get it here. I sent back to Atlanta for it. Now, thank God, they have it on the market here and I have it in my home. Not only that, but I'm telling all my friends that HADACOL has done for me. I sleep well, eat anything I can get and feel wonderful. I could go on and on praising HADACOL, it's done so much for me."

Mrs. Douglas A. Catrett, P. O. Box 384, Rt. 3, Mobile, Ala. "I have a good word to say about HADACOL for it certainly seems a miracle to me. My son, Wayne, who is eight years old, was considerably underweight in fact, he wore a size four shirt. Someone suggested that I give him HADACOL. After taking four large bottles Wayne is no longer underweight. Now he gets up early and he has a good appetite. . . he eats lettuce, cabbage, carrots and greens. He hasn't missed a day from school. Thanks to HADACOL."

Anselmo Palacios, 911 Hardy St., Houston, Texas: "I had suffered from a bad cold. I did get over my cold, but it left me in a poor, weakened condition. I lacked energy, had no appetite, and felt generally run-down. I read about HADACOL and decided to try it to see if it would help build me up like it had so many other people. A friend of mine presented me with a bottle and I began to take it. Very soon I noticed an improvement in the way I felt. I began to eat better and regain my energy and strength. I continued taking HADACOL and soon felt fine. I am still taking HADACOL and am going to continue taking it for I believe that by continuous use of this wonderful HADACOL that I will keep on feeling fine. I not only take HADACOL—my family takes it, too. We cannot praise it enough."

Richard Krabill, 3118 Murfield Road, Toledo 14, Ohio: "I am an apprentice pharmacist and I go to the University of Toledo. My daily schedule is very rigid. Going to school full time and working after school until 9:30 gets pretty tiresome. I was getting tired and run-down keeping pace with all I had to do. Being married and having a family, I am compelled to work after school. I work in a pharmacy here in Toledo. After selling HADACOL here in the store I decided I'd try it. You have no idea how much it has picked me up. I'm telling you truthfully, HADACOL is the answer to all my tiredness."

Mrs. L. A. Stubbs, R. N., Route 3, Box 204, Mendenhall, Mississippi: "I have been giving HADACOL to my two children, ages five and seven. They did not eat as they should. Since giving them HADACOL they feel better and eat more than they have in a long time."

Mrs. Frank P. Martino, 5524 Wickfield Drive, Apt. B, New Orleans, La.: "I am a housewife, age 27, taking care of my baby who is 3½ years old. I wasn't able to take care of my baby and do my work at the same time. I was always feeling run-down and very nervous until I tried taking HADACOL. Well, believe me, I have only been taking it for two and a half months and have experienced a wonderful change for the better. I don't feel nervous or run-down any more. I feel and eat a lot better. Thanks to HADACOL."

SENATOR DUDLEY J. LeBLANC, Whose Tireless Efforts For Relief Of Suffering Have Brought Humanity Today's Great HADACOL

Senator LeBlanc in all of his political activities has always championed the cause of the oppressed, and the poor and underprivileged.

He was the first candidate for Governor to advocate a specific Old Age Pension . . . and today in Louisiana, he is known as the Father of the Old Age Pension. In the course of his long, lone fight he has had his critics, but to those who opposed him he has continually stated, "If you do not believe in Old Age Pensions, remember the mandate of the Lord Himself—Honor thy Father and thy Mother that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee."

Senator LeBlanc is known as a friend of the veterans. He introduced and successfully passed the law that created the State Service Commission whose duty it is to see that every service man receives his just compensation from both State and Federal governments. His activities in public life in behalf of the working man are too numerous to mention here.

It was only natural that in his sincere desire to serve the people, that Senator LeBlanc would seek and find a product that would tend to assist the poor and ailing, that would help them lead a more happy and contented life. His tireless study and effort resulted in today's wonderful HADACOL.

Why Wait?
Why experiment, why give up, why suffer from a lack of Vitamins B<sub>1</sub>, B<sub>2</sub>, Iron and Niacin? Why not make up your mind to start taking HADACOL today with the positive assurance that it will help you if you suffer such deficiencies or the Senator will gladly send back your money. You have to be satisfied, and since Senator LeBlanc has proven by his past activities that he is your friend, you know you can depend on what he says and what he does. Ask for HADACOL now. Trial size, $1.25; large family economy size, $3.50.

Liquor Running
Takes a Beating
In Missouri

committee in Washington on March 9 he is worried only about the whisky-runners now.

But officials from other states told the committee they were worried about the revenue their states were losing through the sale of untaxed liquor.

They said the firms in Cairo have a $20,000,000 business supplying illicit whisky to dry areas of southern states. Federal taxes have been paid on all the whisky, but state taxes are asked for federally in stopping the flow of whisky from Cairo.

Hewitt said Missouri is cutting off a least part of the supply to Oklahoma, but he wants the federal government to stop selling retail and wholesale liquor stamps to distributors in dry counties or states.

He told the committee he thought

Oklahoma ranks seventh in the nation in the purchase of the federal liquor stamps. They are used by the bootleggers as "authority" to buy whisky in Cairo.

"Legally Dry but Wet"

He said "Oklahoma is legally dry, but it is very, very wet."

The whisky-runners were all using highway 60 across the southern part of Missouri to Oklahoma before the state started seizing the loads. Now some of the runners are going all the way to north Missouri in an effort to escape the liquor agents then heading back down to Oklahoma on "out-of-the-way" roads.

Some runners are even going around Missouri to get their loads through.

Hewitt said the runners cross the state to get the whisky because they can get it much cheaper in Cairo. And they have no state tax paid in Illinois. Whisky is not taxed by Illinois if it is to leave the state.

"And I think some of the big runners get 'kickbacks' or special discounts from the companies

there," Hewitt added.

They can't buy it in this state because Missouri liquor wholesaler can sell only to licensed retailers.

Hewitt said the first loads taken last year were usually in large trucks—some carrying as much as $17,000 worth of liquor. But since his agents have started seizing the whisky, the runners have started using passenger cars with

"overload" signs.

Their haul is much lighter, but the cars are hard to spot.

When the liquor is seized, a court is asked to declare both the liquor and the vehicle used for transportation as contraband.

In cases completed so far, no one has appeared to claim the whisky and it has gone to the state. But the cars and trucks taken have all been mortgaged, and the mortgage holders have claimed them—saying they didn't know what the vehicles were being used for.

When the whisky has been declared contraband, the state sells it to licensed retail or wholesale dealers and collects the state tax.

Hewitt said the Missouri law has "stopped a lot of the whiskyrunning, but some is still going on." He said his agents—about 42 of them—have other duties to perform and can't concentrate on the runners alone.

Small time operators—those who buy less than five gallon lots from border cities like Coplin—are not being stopped. They can purchase the small amounts from any retailer and have only the authorities in Oklahoma to worry about.

The law was not passed in time to affect bootleggers who formerly supplied Kansas. Kansas had repealed its prohibition laws before the Missouri permit law went into operation.

mayor introduced an ordinance which would provide a monopoly for a certain taxi cab company.

Wolfe said this proposed ordinance was drawn up by a Democratic attorney and party leader.

The proposal was then given to a councilman but was never taken-up as regular business in council. The proposed ordinance would have cost this taxi-cab company $1,000 a year. Wolfe said he was asked to give legal advice on the proposal and said that he thought it was illegal.

Democrats Violated FCC Law

Mr. Wolfe stated that during recent political talks by Democrats over the local radio station

they violated the Federal Communication Commission's law by failing to identify themselves properly.

He asked the Democrats political machine and said the Republicans were different because, their candidates are as independent now as they were when they were nominated at the city convention and would work for the welfare of the community

instead of a certain few.

In closing, Wolfe stated, that

Tuesday would be the only time people would be able to vote and everyone should exercise the right and vote in the city election.

Miss Rose Leibbrand opened the meeting and turned it over to Mrs. Frank Evans who led the Star Spangled Banner. A prayer followed.

Miss Leibbrand, the city chairman, then introduced H. O. Berry, candidate in First Ward; N. L.

Brown, Second Ward; T. J. Mc-didate.

All candidates made short talks and expressed optimism in to-

GUARANTEED WORKMANSHIP

In the early 1820's Pilot Grove was nothing more than a wagon trail used by the settlers who had been caught up in the tide of the era's westward movement.

Settlers who intended to make their way west along the Santa Fe trail often took Missouri river boats to Boonville and then transferred to wagons for the overland journey ahead. Before the shorter Santa Fe route was discovered the pioneers left from Boonville over the Old Georgetown trail.

One of the markers that those wagon trains relied upon was a grove of tall hickory trees located on a farm owned by Samuel Coleman. The wagonmasters directed their trains toward this grove and soon it became the principal guide for these settlers. They referred to it as the "pilot grove" and when the town was established there in the latter part of the 20's the town adopted this as its name.

Pilot Grove Grew

Pilot Grove remained only a small settlement until the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad was run through the territory in 1872. When the railroad arrived a rivalry broke out between Pilot Grove and the neighboring town of Harrison. Little by little the residents of the Harrison community moved to Pilot Grove as the post office was centered there and Harrison went out of existence.

The land was sold to the settlers by Simmons and H. W. Harris, both of whom were the big landowners of the territory.

Pilot Grove continued to expand until the Civil War. During the war the community was plagued by bushwackers and had little time for anything other than protecting their property and lives. Residents recall an incident which occurred during the first years of the war. During services at the Methodist church one Sunday a group of Confederate officers entered the church, tapped a member of the congregation on the shoulder, and took him outside the church where they shot him as a spy who was carrying secret plans to the Union army.

Fire in Business Section

Following the Civil War advancement went unhindered until October 31, 1899. On this Halloween night a fire broke out in the business district of the town and before it could be brought under control an entire city block of business houses had been destroyed.

Another disaster in 1948 yielded another telling blow on the community. On June 14 of that year a wind and hail storm did over a quarter of a million dollars damage to the crops and homes in the vicinity.

The older citizens still mention occasionally Cole Younger's visit in 1910. Younger, one of Missouri's most notorious outlaws and member of a gang known as the Younger brothers, spent the day in Pilot Grove during which time he gave a lecture at the town hall on why crime does not pay. A few days before his talk in Pilot Grove Younger had gotten his release from the penitentiary in Stillwater, Minn., where he had served out a twenty-five year sentence.

Has Several Churches

Since then the town has added a public grade school and high school and a parochial grade school, three Catholic churches, Christian church, Presbyterian church, Baptist church, Methodist church and an Evangelical and Reform church.

For a town the size of Pilot Grove, the population is over 700, it has many modern improvements. It has a modern sewerage system, a supply of natural gas, and a water system which is supplied from a 700 foot well. The fire department is composed of 12 volunteers and one truck.

Bank Cashier Is Mayor

The mayor of Pilot Grove is W. B. Layne, cashier at the bank there. The town also has a city council and marshal. The Sentinel-Star, a weekly publication, is owned by Ben Burke.

Among the leading industries is the Yorktown Manufacturing company, which turns out unfinished furniture, special orders for dimensional cut lumber, wooden parts of gym equipment, playground equipment, baby walker seats and wooden parts for children's tops.

The company's president and principal stockholder, F. A. Bock, said he got his start in the business while working on a newspaper in St. Louis. He had a workshop in the basement of his home where he made two ping pong tables one week. One table he gave to his daughter, the other he advertised for sale. He got 21 responses to his "ad" and before he had finished Bock had built and sold 26 tables.

Since then he has opened his factory in Pilot Grove, employs 27 workers and supplies the community with one quarter of its baby walker seats.

Another Factory

Another industry is the Stevens Regulator company, manufacturers of electronic temperature controls for incubators in chicken hatcheries. Partners in the company are W. C. Stevens and his son, W. E. Stevens, the inventor of the Stevens Master Control. The company also produces ventilation controls. The controls are fixed contact mercury to wire thermostats which are accurate to within .05 of a degree. The factory moved from Denver, Colo., in January, 1950. Stevens, who has been interested in electronics for several years began to experiment with the control in 1947. Since then he has built up his production rate until now the company turns out between 400 and 500 controls each year.

Bait Company

The Martin Bait company, of Pilot Grove, turns out fly rod lures for the Rens company, of New York City, N. Y. The lures, which include grasshoppers, nymphs, wonder bugs, red fins and chicklets are designed by H. S. Sken, of near Sedalia. The lures are made with a latex base, which gives them lifelike movements. Six employees turn out about 500 of these lures each day.

The Pilot Grove hatchery, which has been in operation for about 10 years, ships about 40,000 baby chicks each week. The hatchery, with a capacity of about 280,000, sells White Rocks, Leghorns, Austro Whites, Hampshire Whites and New Hampshires. The hatchery is owned by Paul Willenbring.

Georgetown PTA Elects Officers

The Georgetown P. T. A. and Community club met at the Georgetown school March 28th.

The meeting was called to order by the president Mrs. Walter Alexander. P. T. A. officers for the coming year were elected as follows: president, Mrs. H. P. Hutchison; vice-president, Mrs. Lee Dow and secretary and treasurer, Mrs. J. P. Dunham.

Mrs. H. P. Hutchison, program chairman, presented the following program: songs, "The More We Get Together" and "My Chocolate Rabbit" by the pupils of the Georgetown school accompanied by Mrs. Carl Farris; song and tap dance, "Oh Dear What Can the Matter Be", Susan Alexander and Ella Louise Dow; reading "How I Got My Man", by Emory Meyers; song and tap dance "Chocolate Ice Cream Cone", Doris Jean Imhauser; a talk "Child's Success", Mrs. Walter Alexander, and a quartet composed of Cecil Lutgen, J. M. Burleson, Donald Vanderlinden and Emory Meyers of Sedalia sang several songs.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Nell Walton, Mrs. Walter Alexander and Mrs. H. P. Hutchison. The May meeting will be a weiner roast at the George Curry farm.

Broken Wrist Benches Drop For 2 Months

SARASOTA, Fla., April 3—(P)—Big Walt Droppo, who led the Boston Red Sox in home runs last year, Monday was lost to the team for possibly two months with a broken right wrist.

The slugging first baseman was hit on the wrist by a pitched ball in the seventh inning of yesterday's exhibition with Detroit, which the Sox won 8-1.

He was unaware of the extent of the injury until Dr. Harold T. Lawler took X-rays this morning at Sarasota hospital.

His loss will be a blow to the Sox. In 136 games last year he rolled up a batting average of .322, clouted 34 home runs and tied Vern Stephens for the runs-batted-in lead, with 144.

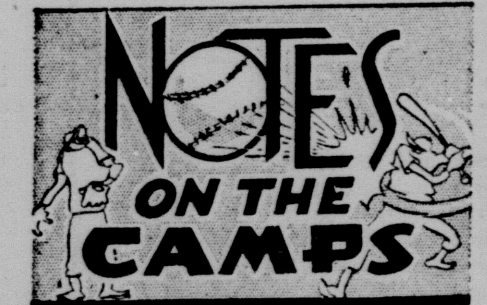

Manager Steve O'Neill said Billy Goodman, the club's handy man and last year's American league batting king, would take over first base. O'Neill said that Goodman had played the position well until he was injured in May last year. That injury, incidentally, gave Droppo his chance to return to the Sox lineup and he made the most of the opportunity.

Goodman had been slated to play right field in the Red Sox's power-laden lineup. O'Neill said either Tom Wright or Clyde Vollmer would fill in at right.

Lou Boudreau, who played several games at first when he was managing the Cleveland Indians, has played shortstop for the Sox right through the exhibition season. He apparently has forced Junior Stephens, last year's shortstop to third base. Johnny Pesky, the third sacker, has been used in several positions in a utility role.

Droppo was brought up from Louisville early last season after Goodman, the Sox regular first sacker, broke an ankle. When Big Walt started slugging he was kept at first baseman and Goodman was assigned an emergency role.

Dr. Lawler said that X-rays showed that Ray Herbert's pitch broke Kropo's wrist in two places. It caused a fracture of the tip of the ulna (the inner of the two bones of the forearm).

By the Associated Press
MOBILE, Ala., April 3—(P)—Manager Leo Durocher's present problem child of the New York Giants is pitcher Jack Kramer. The veteran right-hander has pitched only two innings this spring.

TUCSON, Ariz., April 3—(P)—The world champion New York Yankees are becoming more and more worried about the ailing arm of pitcher Allie Reynolds.

The New Yorkers' No. 2 hurler hasn't pitched an inning of exhibition ball this spring. Instead, he has been giving it heat treatments and complete rest.

But after trying it out the last couple of days he said "It is kicking up on me again."

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 3—(P)—Worries increased today for Manager Red Rolfe of the Detroit Tigers.

Rolfe, whose club won only four of its first 15 spring exhibitions, had expected to see injured George Kell back at third base this week. Now Kell is out definitely.

Kell had the bandage removed from his spiked right hand yesterday and found the knuckle of his middle finger jammed so he couldn't straighten out the finger.

MOBILE, Ala., April 3—(P)—Two traveling squads of the Boston Braves merged here today for the first of two exhibition games against the New York Giants. The second game will be played in Beaumont, Texas, tomorrow.

LEESBURG, Fla., April 3—(P)—With their roster trimmed down to 28 players, the Cincinnati Reds rolled in here today for the first stop on their barnstorming trip home and a game with the Washington Senators.

MIAMI, Fla., April 3—(P)—The Philadelphia Phillies play the Brooklyn Dodgers in the second of a four-game series today and will be out for their third triumph of the spring over the Brooks.

A four run ninth inning rally on four safeties plus Blis Donnelly's perfect stint in the last of the ninth gave the Phils a thrilling 8-7 win yesterday.

Eddie Rautkus suffered an injured left elbow when hit by a pitched ball in the first inning and will be out a few days.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 3—(P)—The Philadelphia Athletics meet Atlanta today on the first stop of their eight-day trip north.

Yesterday Manager Jimmy Dykes disclosed that Billy Hitchcock has all but clinched the second base job for 1951.

The 32-year-old infielder paced the A's with 16 hits in 13 exhibition games for a .421 average.

HOUSTON, Texas, April 3—(P)—John Galbreath, president of

The Pittsburgh Pirates, is still trying to get a catcher from the New York Yankees as part of the John Hopp trade last fall.

The hitch is that several American league clubs refuse to waive on Charley Silveira and Ralph Houk, who sat on the bench in all but a few games last year.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 3—(P)—The crowd seeking the first base job with the St. Louis Cardinals is thinning out.

First to be dropped was Harvey Zernia, 25, who was sent to the Columbus club yesterday. Nippy

Practice For Ball Club

The San Johnson team will practice at 5:00 o'clock Wednesday evening at the Liberty park.

Joe Lutz is making his fourth try to win a job as the St. Louis Browns regular first sacker and Manager Zach Taylor is giving him plenty of opportunity to prove his stuff.

Hank Arft, who saw service at first with the Browns last year, is sitting out most of the games. Taylor explains that he knows what Arft can do and that's the reason is giving Lutz lots of action. One of Lutz' strong points is his slugging.

He hasn't knocked down any fences so far this year, however.

BEAUMONT, Tex., April 3—(P)—Bill Higdon, 26-year-old outfielder, is singing the Memphis Blues.

He is broken up that he has been returned on option to Memphis by the Chicago White Sox.

"I think I proved I could play Double A ball when I hit .330 for Memphis last year," he said. "If I hit it again for Memphis, so what! If I were moved up to Triple A at least I would feel I'm making some progress."

Sox general manager Frank Lane said that Sacramento, the club's Triple A farm, could not use another left-handed hitter.

HOUSTON, April 3—(P)—One of the brighter spots in the Chicago Cubs' outlook is provided by Bob Borkowski.

They chuckled a year ago when "Beefy" Bob reported for duty weighing 210 pounds.

This year he's a trim 170. The only thing he is fattening is his batting average. He's emerged not only as a better hitter but also as a speedy base-runner and sharp outfielder.

PHOENIX, Ariz., April 3—(P)—Tom Morgan, sensational 20-year-old right-hander, from El Monte, Calif., apparently has clinched a starting berth with the world champion New York Yankees.

The youngster has pitched 25 innings against major league opposition and has yet to yield an earned run.

What does Morgan tick? Good control, a fast ball and confidence. He has walked only four during his 25 innings.

Morgan credits his older brother, Tom, a catcher for the Yanks' Beaumont, Tex., league club, and Bomber coach Jim Tur-

Hurlers Shine; Musial Clicks; Cardinals Win

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., April 3—(P)—Brilliant six-hit pitching by right handers Gerry Staley and Cloyd Boyer, Monday gave St. Louis Cardinals a 2-0 shutout over the Boston Red Sox in an exhibition game here.

Boston, playing without its star slugger, Ted Williams, got only two men as far as second base. Williams had been given the day off, a disappointment to the large Monday crowd of 3,070.

The Cards, with eight hits off Mel Parnell and Ellis Kinder, scored both runs in the first inning. Red Schenckiest singled and Stan Musial doubled, both scoring on Enos Slaughter's single.

Musial had another double and a single in four times up.

Billy Goodman, American league batting champion, played first base for the Red Sox in place of the injured Walt Droppo. Droppo is expected to be out of action for two months as the result of a fracture of the right wrist. Droppo was struck on the wrist by Ray Herbert of Detroit in a game Sunday.

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—Bob Baker, 224, Pittsburgh, stopped Levi Bryant, 214 Port Arthur, Tex. (3).

BALTIMORE, Md.—Elmer Barksdale, 122½ Baltimore and Proctor Heinhild, 131, Oklahoma City, drew (10).

CHICAGO, Ill.—Chuck Davey, 145, ner for his rise to stardom.

"I used to throw to my brother by the hour in our backyard at home," Morgan said. "That's how I learned control so early, just by pitching."

Yesterday Morgan pitched the first six innings against Cleveland in a game the Yanks won 4-2 on Joe Collins' home run in the 11th inning. Morgan drove in the Yanks' first pair of runs with a home run off Bob Chakales.

Morgan's string of consecutive scoreless innings was snapped at 22 when the Indians scored an unearned run in the fourth. The second Cleveland marker in the sixth also was tainted.

1,000 Exam Centers Selected For College Deferment Tests

WASHINGTON, April 3—(P)—Selective Service has named the 1,000 examination centers at which college students will take tests for possible draft deferment.

At the same time the agency set forth the rules of the examination which will be given May 26, June 16 and June 30.

There was no announcement of the "passing" grades to be required or the scholastic standing which also will be considered.

A Selective Service spokesman said these standards will be announced later.

The tests will be given to draft registrants who have begun, and plan to continue, their college or university studies, graduate or under-graduate.

Students Must Be In College

High school graduates and others who are candidates for admission to their first year of college will not be eligible to take the test until they have entered college.

The Selective Service announcement said:

"The test presupposes no schooling beyond the ordinary high school preparation for college.

"Scores on the test will not themselves determine eligibility for deferments.

"Scores on the test, together with evidence of scholastic performance in college, will be used by the Selective Service local boards in considering the eligibility of registrants who wish to take the test should apply immediately.

They must get a postcard application from any local draft board, fill it out and mail it in.

Draft Boards Have Applications

The application blank, in the form of a double postcard, may be obtained only from draft boards. It is already addressed—not to the draft board but to the Selective Service examining section of educational testing service, P. O. Box 586, Princeton, N.J.

The student does not address—just folds the double card after filling it out, applies a stamp, and mails the complete card. The address is on the reverse side of the application form.

Samples of the application—SSS form No. 106 and attached SSS form No. 107—have been mailed to colleges throughout the country but may not be used in applying. Usable forms can be had only from draft boards.

Here are the centers where an estimated 800,000 college students may take aptitude tests.

The centers were chosen on the basis of population, college and school location, and proximity to other centers.

Each center is identified by a number. Applicants for the tests must identify the center of their choice by the number and city.

14 Airmen Bail-Out Of Crash-Bound B-29

BLYTHE, Calif., April 3—(P)—A B-29 Superfortress crashed in a desert near Blythe Monday and March Air Base said all 14 men aboard parachuted to safety.

Two men received minor injuries when they landed on the rough ground at the foot of the Chuckawalla mountains in eastern Riverside county.

Capt. Max G. Thaele, pilot of the bomber, said he ordered his men to jump when the plane's number three engine caught fire.

The B-29 was flying in formation with two others on a routine training flight out of March Air Base.

Arsonist Starts 5-Fire Series

GREENVILLE, Mich., April 3—(P)—An arsonist started a series of five fires, including three churches, here last night, police reported. Fire equipment from neighboring towns was summoned to help combat the flames.

The first fire broke out at 9:30 p. m. and the others within the next five minutes. One man was taken into custody for questioning and police said they were hunting another.

The recently remodeled Methodist church was destroyed and fires also raged out of control in the Congregational and the Adventist churches.

Smaller fires broke out in a barber shop and the Western Union office.

Incomes Up Over Cost of Foods

WASHINGTON, April 3—(P)—The Agriculture department had an answer Monday for food buyers wishing for a return of "good old days" of the late 30's when prices were much lower.

Despite the sharp increase in prices, the average consumer spent a smaller proportion of his income for a specified quality of food last year than he spent in the pre-war years of 1935-39, the department said.

The average diet in the pre-war years was said to have cost $118.60 or 23 per cent of the average income.

The identical diet would have cost $245 last year or only 18 per cent of the average income, the department said in a statement.

In each case, the agency was using an income figure which reflected what was left after payment of taxes and other fixed charges.

In other words, incomes have gone up more, the department said, than have food prices.

Of course, consumers have been spending more than the pre-war proportion of their incomes for food. Last year they spent an average of 27 per cent. On the average, people were said to be eating better than they did before the war.

Much of this reported improvement in the diet is in the form of meats. Before the war, meat consumption averaged about 126 pounds a year for each person. Last year the average was about 145 pounds.

At the present time, farmers are getting about 51 cents out of every dollar consumers spend for food, the department said. During the last war, the farmers' share got up to 55 cents. In the 30's it dropped below 45 cents.

Predicts Truman Will Run Again

WASHINGTON, April 3—(P)—Senator Anderson (D-NM) predicted Monday President Truman will run again in 1952.

Anderson heads the Democratic Senatorial Campaign committee and served for a time as acting chairman of the Democratic National committee during last year's election campaign.

The New Mexico senator told a reporter he interprets as a decision to seek another term Mr. Truman's announcement last week that he has made up his mind about 1952 plans but won't tell anybody about it.

"I still think the President is going to run again," Anderson said. "It is my guess the President will permit the election of convention delegates pledged to him."

No Spare Tire With New Car

WASHINGTON, April 3—(P)—The government Monday knocked the spare tire off new cars.

To save rubber for truck, tractor and farm equipment tires, the National Production Authority (NPA) directed that new passenger cars be delivered with only four tires.

Several of the big automobile manufacturers already had adopted that as their own policy.

The order, effective as of yesterday, does not prevent new-car buyers from purchasing a fifth tire themselves to replace the one left off by the factory.

The "no spare" order is part of a general order which cuts by 1,500 tons a month the amount of rubber allowed for civilian use.

NPA officials had once planned a cut of 7,500 tons in civilian use of rubber but held up their order because a Senate committee objected to it.

Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) of the Senate small business committee had requested a delay in issuance of the April order on

"50,000 MILES-NO WEAR!"—PROVED HERE:

After a punishing 50,000-mile road test, with proper crankcase drains and regular care, engines lubricated with new Conoco Super Motor Oil showed no wear of any consequence... in fact, an average of less than one one-thousandth inch on cylinders and crankshafts. Factory finishing marks were still visible on piston rings!

AND gasoline mileage for the last 5,000 miles was actually 99.77% as good as for the first 5,000! This test proved that new Conoco Super, with OIL-PLATING, can make your car last longer, perform better, use less gasoline and oil.

"MANY OF MY CUSTOMERS have actually gone out of their way to thank me for servicing their cars with new Conoco Super Motor Oil, because it has reduced their repair bills by a good margin," says T. S. Young, Young Motor Company, Walsenburg, Colorado. "I recommend Conoco Super because I know it is the finest motor oil on the market."

"I'M ON CALL 24 HOURS A DAY and my car must be ready to roll over the roughest oil field roads in any kind of weather," states B. P. Bryant, Oil Field Engineer, Abilene, Texas. HOOK AND LADDER LOOK—A hook and ladder truck from the Wichita Falls (Tex.) fire department enables a Consolidated inspector to check out this big B-36 bomber, about to fly from Sheppard Air Force Base to Fort Worth, Tex. The long ladder puts the inspector up high enough to check hinge pins in the bomber's rudder assembly—a necessary pre-flight inspection.

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Secretary Marshall Works Harder Than Most Executives

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951. By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON—The Washington rumor factory is probably the most active and the most irresponsible in the world. Tales cooked up in Capitol Hill lobbies, the drawing rooms of high society or in a taxicab conversation are spread as fact within a matter of hours.

The story that the late Franklin Roosevelt was insane and had to be chained to his bed at night was a good example. One confidential news agency believed it to the extent of relaying it to its many thousand customers.

Latest Washington canard is that Secretary of Defense George Marshall is in his dotage and unable to come to his office more than half a week.

On the contrary, I can state that Marshall, though 70, is probably in better health than before his kidney operation, gets to the office by around 8:20 a. m., and puts in a full six-day week, working even on Saturday.

This is a lot more than most executives do in Washington, New York, or anywhere else.

Marshall is alert, his memory is amazing, and he seems completely on the ball. Furthermore, Marshall has put the old uniform aside and is trying to run the Defense department as a civilian. This writer had some skepticism about this phase of Marshall's new job when first appointed secretary of defense, but the skepticism appears not to have been justified.

Cattle Feed Shortage

Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan had been at daggers' points over government farm policies for some time with the man he fired last week, Ralph Trigg, chief of production and marketing.

Main reason the ax fell was that the production of certain vital farm crops—chiefly cattle feed—is desperately behind our defense goals.

About 127,000,000 tons of grain will be needed to feed our greatly expanded population of beef cattle and hogs this year. However, farmers have planted or scheduled for planting only enough acres to produce 117,000,000 tons of feed grain.

Corn will be about 5,000,000 acres short of the 90,000,000-acre production goal fixed by Brannan—which Trigg was supposed to deliver. Plantings of barley are 1,600,000 acres behind schedule and sorghum grain about 500,000 acres short.

At the same time we have 4,000,000 more beef cattle and over 5,000,000 more hogs to feed this year than in 1950. The pinch of feed not being felt this year because of low-grain reserves. However, with the reserves exhausted, we will have a serious cutback in cattle production for defense needs—and therefore a meat shortage—in 1952.

Manpower shortage on the farms is one reason—perhaps the chief one—for the failure to divert more grasslands to planting feed grain. Knowing that their sons and younger hired hands would be drafted, farmers have held back from planting too much corn, which takes a lot of labor to harvest. However, Trigg did little about importing labor from Mexico and elsewhere to fill the gap.

Note—While we have been suffering from a farm-labor shortage, British troops have had to put down riots in the British West Indies because of unemployment.

Washington Pipeline

Illustrating the Washington canard factory here is another I heard recently: "Drew Pearson has now sold out to Pan American Airways. He got a free trip to Europe with Pan American and is now in their pocket." ... Real fact is that I paid my way to Europe on Pan American as I have on every airline—unlike Roy Howard, publisher of a great newspaper chain, who has been a Pan American "guest" all over the world. However, I do not hesitate to pay tribute to Pan American's efficient operation across the Atlantic. If its Washington lobbying were on as clean a basis as its overseas operation, I could find no fault with Pan Am. ... The Senate Small Business committee will investigate the Civil Aeronautics board for trying to regulate small, unchartered airlines out of business. ... Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston has recommended tighter controls on farm prices and wages. He wants to freeze farm parity prices at the January 15 level, then abolish the wage escalator clause which permits wages to rise with prices. His proposal is to plug the wage loophole after June 30, 1951.

Presidential Pique

President Truman's pique and an economist's desire to throw off his new deal label are back of the administration's tragic failure to clamp on price controls six months ago.

This never-told story starts last year when the elder statesman, Bernard Baruch, publicly came out for price controls.

Real truth was that the White House and National Security Resources board were at that very time toying with the same idea. But when Mr. Truman heard that the white-haired New York financier was for price controls, he reversed himself. The President had put Baruch on his "S. O. B. list" when Baruch refused to serve on a Democratic committee in the 1948 elections, and Truman didn't want to be in the position of coming out for price controls just after Baruch did.

Another was the strong opposition to controls by Leon Keyserling, then acting chairman of the council of economic advisers. Keyserling, a former Department of Agriculture economist and assistant to Senator Bob Wagner, was being attacked by right wingers on Capitol Hill as a wild-eyed radical.

Keyserling, an able economist but subject to human ambitions, wanted to be named chairman of the council and gain acceptance as a middle-of-the-road adviser. And at that time he told both the President and Stuart Symington, chairman of the resources board, that controls were "unworkable." In one consultation with Symington, Keyserling argued that high prices would, in fact, be helpful by draining off excess purchasing power and its competition for goods, services and materials needed for rearmament.

What the Well-Dressed Man is Wearing

Herbert Bayard Swope Says Morals No Worse

(Editor's Note: What has happened to American public morality? Is it degenerating, or is it just about what it always has been? Today AP Special Correspondent Herbert Bayard Swope presents the views of a prominent American businessman.)

By Helman Morin

NEW YORK, April 4 (AP)—One day last week thousands of newspapers, mirroring life in the United States, showed a nation with a dirty face.

On that single day, published side by side, were reports headed "visa racket uncovered in U. S. consulate," "three more arrested in basketball fix," "special treasury squads to probe gangster incomes," "Anastasia seized for illegal entry," "police official hunted."

Crime, influence and scandal virtually blotted everything else from the front page and the public mind.

What has happened to American public morality? Herbert Bayard Swope is a New York business executive who has looked at public life and officialdom from several different points of vantage. He was a newspaperman, a public official, an advisor to officials and for 11 years chairman of the New York state racing commission.

"Public morals are no worse," he said. "What has happened is that we have become more vigilant, with a higher standard of expectation."

As evidence, he cited the examples of influence, bribery and corruption that go all the way back to the earliest American federal and state governments.

Are More Watchful

"It may be that we are more cynical today. But we are also more watchful. Remember there was a time when you could be hanged for stealing a cow. In other words, the standard of ethics and morals changes. But it isn't any easier to get away with something these days. It's harder. Sooner or later, the spotlight is sure to get around to the man who tries."

Swope said the effort to obtain influence in government, either by buying it or through some means, is not new, either.

"What is new is that government is very much bigger today than ever before," he said. "As it gets bigger, it gets wider in the opportunities for graft. Apparently there are just that many more people in office who are susceptible."

"Hence, simply because of the greater size, you hear of more examples. But the methods are the same, at least in principle."

Swope did not agree with the Kefauver witness who described gambling as "a biological necessity."

"It isn't as strong as that," he said. "It seems to be a human instinct. People apparently want to gamble, and I am not at all sure that that is a breach of basic morality."

"People indulge it by placing a bet on a horse race with a bookie. Bookmaking is supposed to be the basic cause of pay-offs to the police."

"In that case, remove the policeman from the picture by legalizing the action. It doesn't make much sense to permit betting at the track and forbid it outside the track."

Or how it would feel to be lord and master of a car that can take its place with the finest in the "fine-car field"?
Then, sir, this is a call to action.
The first action is yours—the simple action of getting in touch with a Buick dealer and planting yourself behind the wheel of a ROADMASTER.
Then let this great-powered and dazzling performer take over.
There's action in every one of the 152 horsepower in its Fireball engine—more action than most proud owners of this eager beauty will ever use.
There's counter-action in its gentle and sure-gripping brakes, the finest that Buick has ever engineered.
But there's also luxury—the luxury of double-depth Foamtex cushions and custom upholstery—and of ample roadweight magnificently poised on coil springs which individually cushion every wheel.

There's a spacious feeling of room, above and around you—room that is unsurpassed anywhere in the fine-car field.
And to make every mile effortless and relaxed, there's the very exclusive advantage of Dynaflo Drive—not as an "extra," but as a standard ROADMASTER feature.
So why not drop in and satisfy yourself, as our guest, that here indeed is a fine car that goes the limit—in everything but price!
Check for yourself what others ask—and what others offer—and you'll discover ROADMASTER prices a call to action that a wise man can't ignore.

KILLER'S PACE
BY JULIUS LONG
COPYRIGHT 1951 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Rose Bidault's jury trial, for the murder of Barnett (Barney) Bidault, her 60-year-old husband, is ready to go to the jury, but her attorney Star Williams fails to appear for final arguments. I, Jim Marshall, find him in company with Sonja Sarcetta, famous lady magician, who displays a small automobile pistol. Just like the one Rose was supposed to have used to kill her husband. Star doesn't seem disturbed when I tell him the judge is ready to give the jury the case without defense argument, and we go leisurely back to the courtroom. I console myself by thinking that even Star's arguments couldn't save Rose from the chair.

III

AT the sixth floor of the courthouse we found the corridor packed. It seemed that every courtroom hanger-on was present and trying to fight his way into Criminal Court No. 7.

Star Williams accepted the greetings of all with a bland wave. I trotted along ahead of him to the press entrance, much as a football player runs interference for a ball carrier. The difference, I figured, was that Star had no ball to carry.

A camera shutter clicked as I held the door for Star. Nick Ricardo, reporter for one of the papers, was on the spot as usual. He was a great one for scoops. Nick Ricardo. He was the only reporter I knew who used the word.

He carried an imported miniature camera enabling him to get fairly good candid shots without a flash.

Newspaper men I ordinarily like. But once in a yellow moon you run across one who has been to too many movies, most of them double features.

"What's the story, Star?" Ricardo demanded.

Star ignored him, but he caught Star's sleeve. I stepped quickly forward and gave Ricardo a shove. Perhaps my zeal was in excess.

Ricardo fell backwards over a chair, almost dropping his $500 camera, as I followed Star into the courtroom.

ROSE BIDAULT, the little brunette on trial for her life, sat rigidly at the defense table, a furious gaze upon Star as he entered. Star crossed to her; I knew he would be giving her a reassuring smile, but the unholy hatred in her eyes deepened.

From the bench Judge Wanamaker glared. He was a lean and hungry-looking judge with a deeply lined face that twitched as if he had ulcers gnawing at his insides. At the prosecution table sat paunchy Andy Tanner and his oafish assistant, Joe Worley. Tanner looked elated, and I feared the worst. I looked around to find Kitty Coyle. She was talking to another reporter, Max Feldstein, in the press box.

Kitty left the press box and crossed to me as Judge Wanamaker still glowering, said severely:

"I have just been instructing the jury, Mr. Williams, that further argument will be dispensed with. I am not prepared to alter my decision. In denying the prosecution final argument I feel that I am not unduly jeopardizing your client in depriving her of the benefit of your plea to the jury. Anyway, you've nobody but yourself to blame!"

Star looked shocked, as indeed he must have felt. I noted that the jurors were regarding him as disapprovingly as the judge.

"Ah, Your Honor, as you say, I have nobody but myself to blame! I cannot deny that I have tardily appeared in your court, that my tardiness is inexcusable. But I can deny, Your Honor, that the blame for my misconduct should be visited upon this innocent little child on trial for her life."

"Perhaps the few words that I might say for Rose Bidault would affect the outcome of this trial but slightly. Nevertheless, Rose Bidault, entitled to every right of the accused, should not be denied that right because of the shortcomings of her counsel."

Judge Wanamaker was gripped in the drama of the situation; Star's few words had broken his resolve, vanquished his anger. Abruptly he said:

"Very well. The court will be mercifully generous to the accused. Proceed, Mr. Williams."

The jury had sat owl-eyed. Star Williams bowed to the judge and walked leisurely to the jury box.

"Your Honor," Star said quietly, "Mr. District Attorney and members of the jury, I apologize for the lateness of my arrival. It was unavoidable, but I shall not take up time in defense of myself but in defense of this little girl, brought before this bar for the determination as to whether she will again go forth to see the light of the sun or whether she will be doomed to die in the electric chair."

STAR held out a hand in gesture toward his client, Rose Bidault, who eyed him with a hatred which he blandly ignored.

"The defense of Rose Bidault is a simple one. The district attorney has produced no witness to testify that he saw Rose Bidault kill her husband, the late Barnett Bidault. There is no direct evidence that she did fire the fatal bullet with malice aforethought and intent to kill."

"Oh, yes, there was some other evidence. Expert testimony. Let us not minimize this evidence of the state's highly paid experts. Some six of the highest-priced ballistics experts in the United States said that Barney Bidault's death could not have been accidental. And I must admit that I, as defense counsel, did not introduce any testimony in rebuttal."

"The evidence is one-sided: Barney Bidault could not have died by accident because the experts have said so. This particular gun, State's Exhibit No. 1, which fired the fatal bullet is equipped with a safety device making an accidental discharge impossible."

Rudolph Halley, Legal Comet Versus Crime

He Sees 'Terrible Danger' if Kefauver Committee Isn't Followed Up . . . . .

This is Rudolph Halley as his opponents — and the public — saw him during the recent Senate Crime Investigating committee hearings, a man whose "moral sense of indignation" drove him to a job that has no unded racketeers and made him a public hero.

Pictures and Text
By Arthur Rickerby
NEW YORK (NEA) — "The terrible danger is that if there is not a follow-up to this thing, people will lose heart."

These words are spoken in a flat, unmelodious voice that has been enthraling Americans and hounding racketeers for the past few weeks, and has made a public hero out of the man behind it.

The voice belongs to Rudolph Halley, bespectacled counsel for perts who watched his verbal duels with Frank Costello, William O'Dwyer and others regard this as an understatement. He sticks to a point of testimony despite all interruptions and evasions until he gets the facts he's after. At 37, he works about 19 hours a day—and put on 20 pounds during the year he's served with the Kefauver committee.

The same tenacity is the technique he'd apply to purge the na-

This is Halley as Photographer Arthur Rickerby found him in his New York penthouse apartment, curled up on the bed reading a thick volume of testimony from criminals-politicians.

the Senate Crime Investigating committee, who interrupted a 10-year-plan to stick to private law practice because "my moral sense of indignation drove me to the job."

Halley matches today's matinee idol trend—huge horn-rimmed glasses, dark hair, not particularly good-looking, but a man with great personality when he's in action.

Off-stage, he is a quiet, studious lawyer who likes to sit on the oversized bed in his New York apartment and wade through thick volumes of the testimony he has squeezed out of his often reluctant witnesses.

On-stage, in the klieg-lighted committee sessions, he reminds observers of a terrier who has gotten his teeth into a bone and won't let go for anybody.

Halley calls it the "natural tenacity of a lawyer." Legal ex-tion of large-scale crime and corruption.

"Put them in jail, harass them, keep after them and never give them a moment's rest," he says.

He thinks the committee has accomplished a lot in the way of "starving the criminals out," but that it can't stop there.

"The test of a corrupt nation is whether or not we accept these conditions of crime and corruption complacently. The committee shocked the public out of complacency, but there must be a follow-up and a revival of the kind of government that gave this country its virility in the first place," Halley says in the same deliberate voice that beat down Costello's defiance.

"That, too, can be a great force in combating communism and fascism. A moral awakening—a political moral awakening—can bring on another kind of moral awakening, and people will begin to realize other values.

"Where actual corruption in politics has been shown, the offenders must go to jail. If there is not enough legal evidence to jail them, it is the job of the press to inform the public and state, unbiassedly, whether they think the officials are corrupt or qualified to hold their posts.

Comparatively unknown to the public until a few weeks ago, Halley won a legal reputation in Washington by his work as an assistant and later chief counsel of the Senate War Investigating committee, which also put Harry S. Truman in the spotlight back in 1942.

But Halley doesn't intend to be catapulted into anything.

"I'm steering a carefully planned course in my life, and I'm not the type to get pushed off in a stampede by something sudden like this," he says. "Ten days in front of the public eye is not enough to qualify for a public clamor."

Fatherless at six, Rudy Halley had a bad lisp when he was a young boy. But he spent summers at the home of his mother's uncle, a playwright, and the actors and actresses who also visited there helped him master the lisp.

His "planned course" was well in hand at 14, when Halley graduated from high school, something of a prodigy. He had to wait a year to get into Columbia, and when he graduated at 20 with high honors and a law school degree, he was too young to practice.

After a four-year apprenticeship with Federal Judge William Bondy, he was recommended for a U. S. Assistant District Attorney's post, and the Halley legal comet was on its way.

In 1945, his three-year job with the War Investigating committee finished, he decided he wanted 10 years of private law practice. He liked the new life and when the Kefauver committee approached him, he didn't jump at the offer immediately.

When he did decide, he says, it was "because of a basic sense of indignation aroused by the fact that gangsters and mobsters seem to have taken over influence, control and prestige in too many places."

"It was an opportunity to crack that respectable front and show these men up for what they really were. That was the tantalizing bait for the job," Halley adds.

The salary was supposed to be $17,500 a year, but Halley slashed it to $6,000. He felt most of the bigger salary would go back to the government in taxes, and that the committee might just as well have it to use for its work.

"I have always been able to
